TIMING BELT – ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW

The timing belt is a crucial part of your car's engine. It controls the timing of its moving components from the crankshaft and camshaft to the engine valves. It's important that it isn't allowed to deteriorate.

Why get your timing belt checked?

- » To avoid expensive repair costs: if your timing belt breaks, your engine's moving parts could collide, causing significant damage or possibly leading to a complete replacement engine.
- » To avoid breakdowns: even if the engine isn't damaged, timing belt failure will lead to your vehicle breaking down.
- » To avoid potentially dangerous accidents: if your timing belt fails while driving, it could cause a serious accident, especially at high speeds.

The timing belt is made of a rubber-based compound, which means it can deteriorate over time due to general wear and tear.

It's essential to get your timing belt replaced in accordance with the manufacturer's specifications. If you're unsure, please refer to your Warranty and Maintenance Handbook.

Peugeot Recommends

Timing belts can fail without warning. So we recommend that you have it checked regularly for signs of wear and tear, particularly if you use the vehicle for low mileage stop start journeys.

Get your car's timing belt regularly checked or you could face the expense of replacing your engine.

OR

Replacing a timing belt isn't easy. It's a complex and labour-intensive job that requires specialist tools, so we recommend getting yours replaced by an authorised Peugeot Dealer.
